The BANKERS, MERCHANTS, and MANUFACTURERS of the Western and Midland COUNTIES.

GENTLEMEN,

I Cannot neglect this public Opportunity of testifying my Gratitude for the many Favours you have conferred upon me, and particularly for your Patronage and Assistance in the Work which I now offer to the Public; it has been in a great Measure owing to your generous and extensive Recommendations that I have been able to obtain the necessary Information in every Town, and to execute the Design with a Degree of Correctness, which will, I trust, render the Work acceptable to the Public.

It is so great an Honour to enjoy the Patronage of Men of Merit, that you will, I hope, pardon me the Vanity of publishing to the World my Felicity, in being able to boast of your Protections and Friendships, and will permit me thus publicly to acknowledge my great Obligations to your Generosity, and to express the high Respect with which

I am,

GENTLEMEN,

Your much obliged,

And most obedient

Humble Servant,

W. BAILEY.

THE Editor of the following Sheets flatters himself, that it is wholly unnecessary to make any Apology for publishing them: The Utility of the London Directory is already sufficiently known. In this Western and Midland Directory the same Plan is closely pursued; the Editor has included in his Design, every Manufacturing and principal Town in the West of England and the Midland Counties; he has personally applied in each Town for the requisite Information, and been particularly careful to make the List of Names complete, with Respect to such as are of established Credit, that no Merchant or Trader may be at a Loss where to apply for any Article, or to establish a proper Correspondence. He hopes that when the Trouble and Expence attending this Undertaking are considered, the low Price it is fixed at, in Proportion to other Works of this Nature, and the Accuracy with which it is executed, is observed, it will be found entitled to universal Encouragement.

He relies on the Candour of the Public, with Respect to any Omissions or Mistakes, which after the utmost Attention he may have not been able to avoid, in a Work of so much Extent and Difficulty.—His numerous Subscribers will, he flatters himself, have the Goodness to excuse any apparent Delay in the Publication, unavoidably occasioned by the Extension of the Work much beyond the original Design; as this Circumstance will render it more complete, and less unworthy of that favourable Reception, which his Undertaking has met with, and for which he acknowledges himself under the highest Obligations to his Patrons and Friends.

Till Adams, John, M. D. Union street

N. B. As this Gentleman's Mode of Practice differs from that of most Physicians, the following concise Account of it is presented to our Readers :

Dr. Till Adams dispenses the Medicines which he prescribes, singly, or in Consultation, but otherwise he neither dispenses, nor sells any. When he dispenses Medicines, he does not expect the full Fees of a Physician who merely prescribes, only some suitable Gratuity, according to the Patient's Ability. If a Patient cannot afford this, he requires no more than Payment for the Medicines.— When he visits out of Bristol, his Fee is proportioned to the Distance, Expence, &c. When his Prescriptions are dispensed by an Apothecary, he receives Fees as another Physician.
